✓ applicants herein had been allowed with directions to the respondents to reengage the applicants as Mobile Booking Clerks and to grant them temporary status after having put in 120 days' continuous service and further grant them absorption against regular vacancies as and when they fulfil the conditions prescribed for the purpose in accordance with the relevant instructions. Service put in by the applicants before they were disengaged was directed to be counted for computing the period of three years of service which is a condition precedent for consideration for absorption against the regular vacancies.

3. In result, by their letter dated 2.7.1996, the respondent-authority has asked for details of the applicants so as to carry out their screening test and to regularise them in due course. After nearly four years therefrom, the respondent-authority has issued letter dated 20/21.3.2001 (Annexure A-1 to the counter) by which they have undertaken to screen test the remaining MBCs, including applicants, who are 103 in number. According to the learned counsel appearing for the respondents, the applicants as well as the others included in the aforesaid 103 candidates will be considered for regularisation subject to the various conditions laid down in the aforesaid letter of 20/2.3.2001. The process in question, according to him, is on. The applicants are at present working as MBCs and are thus not without work. They will remain at work until a decision in regard to regularisation has been taken. It is hoped that the matter will be finally decided and regularisation orders issued within the next six months. Needless to say that each of the
