The application is finally disposed off as withdrawn as learned counsel for the applicant states that he would advise his client to file a representation to the administration seeking enlishment as casual labour and for seeking further relief, if any, which however is not the aspect which we should commend. But if the applicant were to make any representation to the department for enlistment as casual labour, it will be open to the department to dispose off the same as expeditiously as possible. No costs.
