After arguments in the matter were heard at some length, Mr.Tripathi, under instructions from the applicant who is personally present in the Court Room, seeks permission to withdraw the O.A. unconditionally.

However, Mr.Tripathi states that the Department may be directed not to charge market rent from the applicant for the period of his over-stay in the residential quarters allotted to him. We are afraid, we cannot issue any such directions to the respondents. However, we do find that this case is a very fit case where, if the applicant makes a representation in that behalf, the respondents should sympathetically consider his representation, especially in view of the long service rendered by the applicant to the Railways and the fact that he had tried to withdraw his voluntary retirement request and the most important fact that a sizeable amount of his retiral benefits is still lying with the Railways as he had not accepted the same. We do hope that the respondents will bestow all possible care to the representation of the applicant and take decision thereon sympathetically. The amount, which yet remains to be disbursed to the applicant out of his settlement dues, may be released to the applicant latest by 15.9.1994.

Permission to withdraw granted. O.A. stands disposed of as withdrawn. No order as to costs.

M.A.377/93 does not survive, as the O.A. itself is disposed of today.
