By Advocate Mr. CN Radhakrishnan

The application having been heard on 8th February, 1996,
the Tribunal on the same day delivered the following:

O R D E R

CHETTUR SANKARAN NAIR(J), VICE CHAIRMAN

Applicant whose circumstances arouse compassion, seeks a direction to grant her compassionate appointment.
Applicant is a young woman with a post-graduate degree, and her husband died on 11.3.92 while he was in the service of respondents. Respondents submit that applicant's prayer has been considered, but that she could not be granted an appointment. It is said that there are others in more difficult straits, and that the number of posts available in the category are limited.

2. Having regard to the circumstances, we do not feel justified in issuing a direction to appoint applicant. We would leave it to the good sense of respondents to consider her case also, along with other cases, applying a reasonable sense of priorities. This direction, however, will not give a cause of action to applicant. But we are confident that the case of applicant also will be considered properly.
3. Application is disposed of as aforesaid. Parties will suffer their costs.
