ORDER

(Shri S.P.Mukerji, Vice Chairman)

In this application dated 28.02.1987 filed under Section 19 of the Administrative Tribunals Act, the applicant has prayed that the respondents be directed to appoint him ^{on a} to the existing vacancies of Ammunition
Repair Labourer in preference to Respondents 3 to 7.
According to him, in response to an advertisement issued by the Headquarters, Southern Naval Command, Cochin he applied for the post of Ammunition Repair Labourer (S.S.K.) in the pay scale of Rs. 210-290. After a trade test and interview held on 23.9.84, the applicant was selected and his name was included in the waiting list and he was informed accordingly by the letter dated 4th September, 1984. His grievance is that though a number of persons from the waiting list have been appointed, he has been deprived of the appointment and the respondents^{1 and 2} are attempting to promote the departmental candidates. He has drawn the attention of the Tribunal to the decision in T.A.773/86 in respect of the same respondents 1 & 2. The applicant also suspects that respondent No.3 to 7 are being appointed even though they were included in the subsequent select list, by violating his preferential claim.

2. According to the respondents, as a result of the interview and trade test, conducted in August, 1984, 79 persons were placed in the provisional select list, out of which 38 persons have been appointed. In accordance with the Recruitment Rules, for the post of Ammunition Repair Labourer, direct recruitment can be resorted to only after exhausting the departmental candidates available for promotion or by transfer.

After exhausting the departmental candidates, an advertisement

^{had been}
t^hisement was issued for the balance and anticipated vacancies and the name of the applicant was included in the waiting list. Subsequently a qualifying test for departmental candidates was conducted on 10.9.85 and the direct recruits like the applicant who ^{was} had been included only in ^a provisional waiting list ^{could} ~~should~~ be appointed only after the selected departmental candidates have been accommodated. The respondents have assured that the applicant would be considered for appointment in his turn as and when ^a vacancy arises.

3. We have heard the arguments of the learned counsel for both the parties and have gone through the documents carefully. An identical issue was raised before the Madras Bench of the Tribunal in T.A.No.773/86 which was disposed of by the judgment dated 10th November, 1986. It was held that since in accordance with the Rules, promotees have the first preference, ^{the} transferees the second and direct recruits the last, unless the eligible departmental candidates are accommodated, the direct recruits cannot be given any appointment. In the instant case before us also the respondents ^(1 and 2) do not dispute the contention of the applicant that he is in the ^{waiting} ~~select~~ list and they have assured that he will be given appointment as and when his turn ripens and there is a vacancy available for direct recruits. On the basis of this assurance we close this application with the direction that the applicant should be considered for appointment to the post as and when a future vacancy arises in his quota. There will be no order as to costs.

M
