Sir,

Kindly refer to your endorsement forwarding the new Application No. of the above case transferred to the Central Administrative Tribunal, Bangalore Bench and date of posting of the case. In this connection, I am forwarding herewith a copy of ICAR letter No. F.1-6/85-Law dated 31.12.1985, informing that the Tribunal has no jurisdiction over the ICAR and its Institutes, which is self explanatory, for your kind information.

In view of the above, letter you may kindly consider whether we can argue before the Tribunal that they have no jurisdiction over this Institute. If required, you may kindly send a Vakkalath form for the signature of the Director, which will be made available to you before the due date i.e. 29.7.1986.

F.No.1-6/85-Law.

December 31, 1985

To

All the Directors, ICAR Research
Institutes/Laboratories.

Subject: Central Administrative Tribunals Act, 1985

As you may be aware, the Administrative Tribunals Act, 1985 enacted by the Parliament provides for the establishment of Administrative Tribunals by the Central Government which shall exercise, on and from the appointed day, all the jurisdiction powers and authority exercisable immediately before that date by all courts (except the Supreme Court under Article 136 of the Constitution) in relation to:

a) recruitment, and matters concerning recruitment, to any all India service or to any civil service of the Union or a civil post under the Union or to a post connected with defence or in the defence services, being, in either case, a post filled by a civilian and all service matters concerning the member of any all India service of a person appointed to any civil service of the Union or any civil post under the Union or a civilian appointed to any defence service or a post connected with defence.

The said Act also provides that the Central Administrative Tribunals shall have jurisdiction and powers and authority in relation to and pertaining to service matters of the employees of any local or other authority within the territory of India or of any corporation owned and controlled by the Government.

Since ICAR is covered under the term 'other authority' it was presumed that the said Act shall straightaway apply to its employees also. But now, in view of the provisions of Section 14(2) of the said Act it has transpired that the provisions of the said Act shall not apply to the ICAR and its Institutes till a notification to that effect is issued by the Central Government in this regard.

In view of the position mentioned above, the provisions of the Central Administrative Tribunals Act, 1985 do not apply to the ICAR and its Institutes for the present. Therefore, cases relating to the ICAR and its Institutes pending in the District Courts or in the High courts may continued to be pursued vigorously through the Advocates already engaged until a notification under Section 14(2) of the said Act applying the provisions thereof to ICAR is issued by the Central Government.
