This application having come up for hearing to-day, Hon'ble Vice-Chairman made the following:

ORDER

There is absolutely no use in keeping this application pending. We gave the applicant a chance to appear in the competitive departmental examination on the basis of which his claim for promotion as a Programmer should be considered. We are now told that the applicant did not take that examination and had instead absented himself from appearing in the said examination.

Counsel for the applicant submits that his client could not take the examination because he was unwell. If that is the truth it is certainly unfortunate. But, the position is without passing the competitive departmental examination he cannot be considered for promotion as Programmer. By not taking the examination the matter has worsened as in that event his claim for promotion cannot be considered at all. On this short point this application fails and is dismissed. No costs.
