Shri V.Ramakrishnan, Member (A)

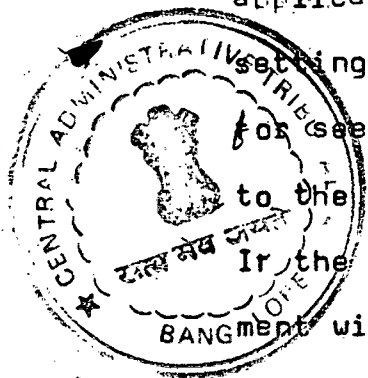

We propose to dispose off this matter at the admission stage itself. The prayer of the applicants is that the respondents should extend to them the benefit of the judgment of this Tribunal in O.A. 284/92, 382/92 and 400/92 rendered on 8th September, 1993. While disposing off those applications this Tribunal had directed:

17
"In the facts and circumstances of the case, the highest that we can do is no more than asking Government of India to deal with the cases of these people with earnestness and see that they are gainfully employed in some discipline maintained by Government. Now that we find that the Government is also of the same view and we think there is absolutely no room to suspect the Government's intention in that behalf. We, therefore, make an order directing Government to abide and implement the memo filed before us to-day in the matter of finding alternative employment to the applicants meaning thereby such of them who have still remained unemployed and although it may not be very much within our ambit, we nonetheless take this opportunity to impress upon Govt. to ensure that whatever opportunities for employment open up into which these applicants can be steered, if any hurdles like age restriction etc. etc. crop up, Government, in that event, should find ways and means of overcoming such hurdles so that these people or at least some of them are able to find a permanent place in some Governmental institution or organisation. We do hope that Government will lose no time in rehabilitating these people and avail of the utmost expedition in resettling all or them to the extent possible."

2. The present applicants, who were retrenched in June, 1992 have now come up before this Tribunal seeking similar orders as in OAs supra. We are of the view that the applicants should approach the Department first and all that we should do is to direct these applicants to make a representation to the department setting out the position and justifying their request for seeking similar consideration as has been extended to the applicants in OA 284/92, 382/92 and 400/92. If the applicants make such representations, the department will deal with them in an appropriate manner keeping in view inter alia the judgment of this Tribunal in OAs 284/92, 382/92 and 400/92.

ORDER

Shri V. Ramakrishnan, Member (A)

We have heard Shri S. Ranganatha Jois for the complainants and Shri G. Shanthappa for the alleged contemnners. While disposing of OA 1000/1993 we had directed the department to deal with the representations of the applicants in an appropriate manner, keeping in view, inter alia, the judgements of this Tribunal in OAs 284/92, 382/92 & 400/92. It was observed that the department had opened a Rehabilitation Cell to deal with the case of those people who were retrenched after the census work was over and who represented for getting alternative jobs. The Rehabilitation Cell is to register the names of retrenched Census employees who represent for getting a job and take up their cases with various agencies, such as State Government, Public Sector Undertakings and so on. The Tribunal subsequently while disposing of MA 516/94 for review of the orders had observed as follows:

"After having heard the learned Standing Counsel for quite sometime, we are unable to make out what exactly the grievance of the Department is. It appears that the Department is trying to make a mountain out of a molehill. What has happened in this case is on an earlier occasion while upholding the retrenchment of some employees of the Census Department for paucity of work, we said that Government may take into consideration the plight of the applicants and then if there is any opening in the Central or State Governments, they may as far as possible ensure absorption of such employees in any position available in the Central Government or Central Govt. controlled institutions or State Government. If the State Government is willing to employ these people, the Census Department could even make a recommendation for absorption of the applicants. The Department had then told us that they had opened up a rehabilitation centre for finding alternative jobs and in that connection we had said that wide publicity be given by the Department regarding the functioning of the rehabilitation centre. We are now told that the Department proposes to issue such a notification a draft of which has been produced before us today. All we wish to say is that we have not given any mandatory direction to the Department to provide jobs to all these applicants either with them or with the State Government. All we had suggested was that as far as possible, the Government should help these people by finding placement for them in any appropriate position in the Central Government or State Government. It was not our intention to make a mandatory order directing them to provide jobs for retrenched people as the direction given was not in any way a mandatory or an obligatory fiat. All that we wanted was that the Department to take a sympathetic view of the retrenched employees and help them to get jobs. Jobs could be found in the Central Government or in any of the Central Government institutions or jobs could even be found in the State Govt. if the State Government was willing to offer placement to the people recommended by the Census Department. We see no reason why we should modify such an order made either in the O.A. or while disposing of the contempt petition which appears to be the immediate provocation for this application. With these observations, this application stands disposed of.

2. The department had clarified in their reply statement that the names of the complainants have also been registered by the Rehabilitation Cell and their cases also will be considered for forwarding their names to various agencies as and when there is need. The reply statement filed by the alleged contemners makes it clear that the cases of the complainants are not dealt with in a manner inferior to others who had obtained similar orders from the Tribunal.

3. In the light of the position explained, we hold that there is no merit in this contempt petition. We accordingly dismiss this contempt petition and the alleged contemners are discharged.
