CORAM:

Hon'ble Shri R.Balasubramanian : Member(A).

This application has been filed by Shri A.Venkat Rao under section 19 of the Administrative Tribunals Act, 1985 against the Director-General, Defence Research & Development Min. of Defence, Govt. of India, B-Blocks, Sena Bhavan, New Delhi-110011 and 2 others praying for quashing of letter No.DT/TR/TA/DA/7281 dated 12.4.89 and No.7281/DLRL/III dated 17.8.89 thereby directing the respondents to pay him his T.A. claim of Rs.4000/- towards the charges for transportation of his personal effects on retirement.

2. The applicant who was working as Chief Administrative Officer in Defence Electronics Research Laboratory (DERL for short) sought for voluntary retirement on medical ground-and retired from service on 29.2.88. On 7.5.88, he transported his personal effects from Hyderabad to Avadi (Madras) and according to rules he is entitled to the terminal TA/DA. He submitted the stamped receipt obtained from the Roadlines for Rs.4000/- towards transportation of his personal effects. However, he could not submit the original consignment note and receipt issued at the time of transportation of the goods as he had misplaced the same during transportation of the goods and could not locate the same. This claim of Rs.4000/- was disallowed by the Accounts Department even though the countersigning authority endorsed the bill favourably. It is against this action of the respondents that this application has been filed.

3. The respondents have filed a counter affidavit and oppose the application. It is admitted that the stamped receipt for Rs.4000/- is dated 6.5.88 and this was produced by the applicant. They returned the claim with the remarks that the cash receipt of the Carrier on their letter-pad was not acceptable. They wanted the cash receipt bearing machine number and also the consignor copy showing the amount paid and lorry number etc. They are not satisfied with the duplicate copies of the cash receipt and consignor copy for transportation of the goods. It is ^{however} admitted that the material information required by Respondent No.3 such as machine number of the original receipt, the amount paid and the quantity of material transported etc., are available in the duplicate copies submitted by the applicant. It is contended that though Respondent No.2 has countersigned it is the ultimate responsibility of Respondent No.3 to pass the bill after being satisfied. Since Respondent No.3 was not satisfied they have rejected the bill.

4. I have examined the case and heard the learned counsels for the rival sides. The short question is whether payment should be made on the basis of the certificates produced by the applicant when the genuineness is not suspected. It is not the case anywhere, of the respondents, that the documents produced by the applicant are not genuine. He has produced a stamped receipt dated 6.5.88 which indicates that it was a case of pre-payment. I find from the duplicate certificate at Annexure-V that the machine number, total weight of the goods transported and full particulars about the lorry are all available. Though an officer of Chief Administrative Grade like the applicant should have taken greater care and pain to ^{submit} ~~preserve~~ the original consignment note, still he should not be penalised when he had produced the required documents ^{the} ~~whose~~ genuineness of which has not so far been doubted by the bill passing authority. The documents produced by the applicant are enough to pass the bill, more so when he had ~~produced~~ categorically certified that in the event of his locating the ^{misplaced} original consignment note etc., he would not prefer a bill again. I find that the stand of the respondents in not paying the amount due to a responsible officer, who had retired, on the trivial ground that he had not produced the original of the consignment note is totally unjust. As stated earlier, the genuineness of the documents he had produced had not been doubted. Under these circumstances, I direct the respondents to make the payment of Rs.4000/- to the applicant within a period of one month from the date of receipt of this order. There is no order as to costs.
