The applicant is an employee of the Central Institute of Tool Design, Balanagar, Hyderabad. He has filed this Application aggrieved by the order of Respondent No.1 in memo Ref. CITD/Estb/2/90 dt.28-11-90 terminating his services as Temporary LV Driver.

2. At the admission stage the learned counsel for Respondents has taken objection that this Court has no jurisdiction over the matter as the Central Institute of Tool Design is an autonomous organisation and no notification has been issued under subsection 2 of section 14 of Administrative Tribunals Act, 1985 bringing this institution within the perview of this Tribunal. He therefore says that the application has to be dismissed for want of jurisdiction. It is admitted that the Central Institute of Tool Design is an atonomous organisation and registered under the societies Registration Act. Unless the Central Government issues a notification under sub-section 2 of Section 14 of the Administrative Tribunals Act, 1985 bringing this institution within the perview of this Tribunal, this Tribunal will not have jurisdiction inregard to the employees of this Institute. In the result, the application may be returned to the applicant to enable him to take further action before an appropriate forum.
