2. The judgement under review was based on the orders passed in OA.1283/95 disposed of on 17.4.96. The said judgement in OA.1283/95 was neither appealed against nor was any review thereof sought. The orders passed in the said OA have therefore acquired finality.

3. The present RA relies on three points which are stated to have not been considered in the judgement under Review. This is not a valid position to take for seeking a review, since the earlier judgement has already acquired finality. Moreover we see that the judgement in OA.1283/95 had duly and elaborately dealt with and covered all the points in detail.

4. The RA is misconceived and the same is therefore dismissed. The directions issued in the original judgement shall now be implemented within 30 days from today.
