Heard. Apparently the applicant being a Scheduled Tribe candidate could have come in only in the 14th position which the respondents have granted him and which is also the focus and content of our order. Now he claims that some of his juniors were also promoted above him which normally does not appear to be correct because according to the learned Additional Solicitor General the applicant came to the 14th position also only because of the reservation policy. Taken on merit alone, he would not have reached such a position. Since those people were also parties in the earlier matter and since the focus was on reservation, the comparative merit of those candidates have not been adjudicated. Therefore we will now give liberty to the applicant to agitate it in a fresh OA after impleading all the necessary parties but the CP cannot lie for the simple fact that the basic content of the order has been satisfied.

2. The CP is therefore disposed off with liberty. Notices are discharged. No order as to costs.
